Packing Tips

- Move all personal items (i.e. jewelry, laptops, other small valuables) yourself.
- Disconnect all electronic equipment.
- Label or tag all boxes on the top and sides.
- Have a clear plan of where you would like your boxes and furniture placed in your new home.
- Be fully packed, organized and ready to go when your movers arrive.
- Boxes should be sealed with tape and should not weigh over 50 lbs.
- Fragile boxes should be clearly marked.
- Plants should not be watered before moving them (makes them less heavy and less messy).
- Once the moving truck is loaded, be sure to double check that nothing was left behind in closets cabinets and drawers.
- Have your utilities disconnected the day after your move out.
- Arrange to connect your utilities at you new residents the day before you move in.

Testimonials

Over the past 25 years, I've had several moving experiences that were unfavorable and caused me much anxiety. Recently, I hired Move Masters in a move from Huntington Beach to Newport Beach and then to a storage. I was amazed at the professionalism, the ease, and courtesy that Move Masters provided. Thank you Move Masters.

– Tony S. of Newport Beach

Moving into an upstairs apartment can be a difficult process, but hiring Move Masters helped make my transition into my new home smooth and easy. They promptly arrived at the designated time and with great efficiency had my furniture moved out and moved in within the said time frame. Move Masters was very professional and honest, and I trusted them to take good care of my possessions. If in the future I was to move again, the first thing I would put on my to-do list would be, hire Move masters.

– Meryl M. of Costa Mesa

This company was recommended to me by a friend and I'm very glad I called them. I moved from the third floor of a condo complex which meant they had to move all my furniture a long way to get to the truck. They took great lengths to protect my furniture by using blankets and plastic wrap which I was very impressed with. They worked in a very timely manner and their rate was definitely reasonable.

Next time I move I will definitely be using them again.
